JUST FOR YOU:

This winter, help a neighbor in need by donating to NRLP's Good Neighbor Round Up Program, a community-based effort with our partner, the Hospitality House of WNC. Make a one-time donation, donate a flat amount each month, or round up your monthly bill to help those who need it most in our community. Small change can make a big difference. Scan the QR code, visit nrlp.appstate.edu or call us at 828-264-3671 to learn more. Office closure reminder: Our office will be closed Nov. 27 and 28. Happy Thanksgiving!

How to Read Your Bill

1

At the top of the bill you'll find the statement issue date and your account identification information, which you'll need when contacting our office or setting up your online account.

2

Billing details, including the service address (where electricity is delivered), last month's bill amount, and any payments made. Any remaining balance carries forward to your current bill.

3

Meter information, including meter readings from the previous and current month, and average daily use are found in this section.

4

New charges appear here. The Basic Facilities Charge covers the cost of maintaining NRLP's electric system. The Energy Charge reflects the cost of providing your electric service, including wholesale power purchased on your behalf and the cost to distribute it to your home. This section may also include taxes, opt-in programs like Green Power blocks or Good Neighbor Round Up, and additional services such as security lighting.

5

Compare energy usage history with this handy chart. You can find the usage for the current bill as well as last year's usage.

6

Important messages from NRLP can be found here.
